

ARTICLE APPEARED
ON PAGE 22

LOS ANGELES TIMES
24 August 1981

Passings

Head of Soviet Spy Network;

Sandor Rado, 82, the cartographer who provided Soviet intelligence with one of its most productive German links during World War II. Between 1930 and 1944 Rado was chief of a Soviet intelligence unit in Switzerland that amassed information in Germany and passed it to Moscow. His "Dora Reports," a book on the Swiss operation, has been translated into 19 languages and was made into a Hungarian film. In Budapest on Aug. 18.